MEMBER SPOTLIGHT
ISABEL NGUYEN, DO/MPH STUDENT

I am Isabel Nyugen and I'm a second year DO, MPH student at Western University of Health Sciences College of Osteopathic Medicine of the Pacific. My friends and family call me "Isa" and I'm from Elk Grove, California. This past August I joined the Women's Health and Non-Musculoskeletal Special Interest Groups. As a preclinical osteopathic medical student hoping to apply OMM and osteopathic principles to future practice, I've really enjoyed the opportunities to learn from and work alongside other osteopathic physicians and public health professionals. I'm really excited to contribute to the development of research studies that explore the use and efficacy of OMM techniques for different patient populations.
